The American Institute of Family Law Attorneys (AIFL) is a division of the American Institute of Legal Counsel (AIRC), which awards ratings across over a dozen divisions of legal representation, For example, Criminal Law, Family Law, Personal Injury, Employment & Labor Law, and other primary specializations. It is one of the legal field’s high honors to be identified as one of the institute’s top-ranked attorneys among all those in a given specialization in their home state. So, Wall Legal Solutions is especially proud to have our team named among the AIRC’s highest-rated Family Law attorneys in Utah.

To achieve the AIRC honor, attorneys must meet all three criteria listed below:

1. Reach the highest level of achievement in their legal specialization.
2. Have a consistently excellent Client Satisfaction rating.
3. Receive a formal nomination by the AIRC, a client, or fellow lawyers.

Best Family Law Lawyers in Utah – AIRC Selection Process

Many thousands of lawyers throughout the country work hard and achieve success. However, the levels of client satisfaction remain average, below average, or fluctuate inconsistently. The best attorneys are in step with the reality that their client is the person who needs to be satisfied with their performance in each case.

The AIRC top attorney ratings recognize only lawyers who have succeeded in the standard ways recognized in the field. For example, winning cases in court, settling cases favorably for their clients out of court, and other ways that enable justice to prevail on behalf of their clients and otherwise indicate that they have performed in the best possible way in each case.

Ultimately, however, the ideal measure of success is the length to which an attorney has worked within the legal boundaries to serve justice for his or her client to the very fullest extent. That is the area of performance in which the AILC focuses its selection process for recognizing this kind of professional excellence.

How AILC Ratings Benefit Our Clients

Membership in the American Institute of Legal Counsel's Top 10 list is exclusive to those select few attorneys in the field who have achieved at the highest levels of the profession while maintaining an exemplary record of Client Satisfaction Ratings.

Rating attorneys through the AILC system has a practical purpose in recognizing excellence among attorneys. It is to enable people seeking legal services of any type in the country to make better-informed decisions when choosing an attorney for their particular needs.

Other AILC Contributions to the Quality of Legal Services

In addition to the AILC ratings, which help people throughout the U.S. make well-informed choices when they need to hire an attorney, the AILC also offers:

- Continuing education opportunities for law professionals.
- The legal best practices database for quick reference by law firms.
- Other critical resources for attorneys of all specializations in all states

States with larger populations may be divided into cities or regions to make the published information more useful to prospective clients who use the AILC website to look for a law office.
